

This conference is designed to provide participants with a practical update on a variety of key topics for the primary care practitioner.

Objectives

At the conclusion of this activity, participants should be better able to:

- Recognize the signs and symptoms of allergic reactions to various venoms and when referral to an allergist is needed.
- List the currently recommended schedules for the administration of vaccines for the immunization of both females and males against human papillomavirus.
- Recall the recommended evaluations of children with significant headaches.
- Discuss the approach to the diagnosis and treatment of the child with constipation.

Target audience

Primary care physicians, pediatricians, family practitioners, pediatric nurse practitioners, physician assistants, residents, fellows and students
