Due to the recent increase in COVID infections, the following policies will be in place for the in-person conference viewing option. We understand there are differing opinions about mitigation measures, and we ask that everyone show respect to each other's comfort levels. Our goal is to create a safe and comfortable learning environment to the extent possible.

Masks will be required for all in-person participants and event staff regardless of vaccination status. We encourage you to bring your own mask, however, masks will be available at the check-in table for your convenience. If you are not feeling well at the time of the conference, we ask that you stay home and participate virtually via the live streaming option.

Meeting space will be set up with socially distanced seating. Participants will be asked to utilize the same seat throughout each day of the conference to limit contact.

Hand sanitizer stations will be available throughout the conference space.

We encourage all in-person participants to bring a personal tablet or mobile device to enhance the conference experience. Low/no-contact participation will be encouraged throughout the conference to the extent feasible, such as, daily check-in/sign-in via text message/digital scan; questions for presenters submitted electronically; conference syllabus and presenter slides available online only
